CHARITIES:

Headed by Don and Mary Anne Shula, The Don Shula Foundation raises money through a variety of charitable events and contributions. It uses the contributions as an endowment to fund breast cancer research. To date, it has raised more than $1 million for grants that are awarded to the top breast cancer research institutions in the country.

Founded by General H. Norman Schwarzkopf and actor Paul Newman, Camp Boggy Creek serves one of the most noble of all causes – the dreams of seriously ill children.

To date, more than 20,000 campers have embarked on the Camp Boggy Creek experience. The camp's stated mission: "To enrich the lives of children who have chronic or life-threatening illnesses by creating camping experiences that are memorable, exciting, fun, empowering, physically safe and medically sound."

The Guy Harvey Ocean Foundation's mission is to provide resources in order to conduct new marine research and education outreach programs in an effort to better inform recreational and commercial fisherman and the public on the need for additional conservation and best management practices for a more sustainable marine environment.

The Rotary Club of Key West was chartered in 1916. To say the Rotary Club of Key West aims to help children is to understate the extent of their service.

"We're a collection of business people in the community who are committed to community service, and in particular, children and young people," says the Rotary Club's George Galvan. "When Chris King mentioned that a stipulation for us as a beneficiary charity would be to put the proceeds to something for children, we didn't have to look too far. Most of what we do involves children."
